

“To change ourselves effectively, we first have to change our perceptions.”

— Stephen R. Covey

At school, we have celebrated the realisation of our second Indus Day and Leadership Summit on 29th April 2017. Each student was confident and brilliant in his or her roles during the performance. Our aim at school is to focus not only on developing the strengths of each child but also equip students with life skills and persuasive communication skills.

Summer Carnival for Community Action Service

The action component of our curriculum encompasses service in the broadest sense of the word: it can mean service to fellow students and the larger community, both inside and outside of school. Action can begin in the smallest ways for young children; it can begin with being self aware, within family or the classroom or in the playground.

Post the summer carnival, a group of parents, students and teachers visited Kalahalli Orphanage to meet and engage with the children there. The funds and donations from the carnival were also handed over to them. Students engaged in story reading and singing songs and enjoyed getting to know each other. We encourage student action and hope to see more parent participation in community and action service in the coming year.

Indus Day & Leadership Summit

On 29th April 2017, Indus Early Learning Centre (IELC) Koramangala hosted their second Indus Day and Leadership Summit. Our eaglets displayed their confidence in the performing arts on home ground, at Indus International School Bangalore.

This event was a distinctive combination of critical thinking through the arts as well as a display of leadership through persuasive communication based on goal setting, mindfulness and guided play.

The programme presented a wholesome array of performing arts. The audience was treated to an invocation performance that displayed local flavor in song and dance, followed by an impressive orchestral rendition of Bach's Minuet in G Major and a melodious choir. This was followed by the play that explored an adaptation of 'The Jungle Book' where students questioned the perspective of characters in the story.
