"It's how teachers think that makes the biggest difference, not what they do or who they are."-

John Hattie

Dear Parents,

The long awaited start of the first academic year at is finally here! I am delighted to welcome our families to Indus Early Learning Centre, Koramangala and look forward to an exciting and successful year ahead. The year will be filled with many 'firsts' for our school and we will work toward a strong parent- school partnership to help make this year memorable.

School reopened on the 24th July with all staff preparing for the start of the year and welcoming on board new teachers. Professional development has led all teachers through various modules to help them understand the Indus vision, IB or the International Baccalaureate curriculum and how our school curriculum effectively balances academics with co- curricular activities. As our team slowly grows, I hold high standards for myself, teachers and pupils and will do all in my power to help achieve the same.

Professional Development for our team

Beyond the essential induction for all new teachers, the pedagogical aspects our team pursued in order to deepen understanding and sync our practice to the Indus philosophy are,

- Jolly Phonics led by Ms Sasha Kwan
- Differentiation for students with special needs led by Mr Brennan Gage
- Inquiry as a curriculum led by Ms Kathy Short
- First Aid led by The Indian Red Cross (Support Staff)

Parent- School Partnership

Indus recognizes the important contributions parents make toward a child's success in school. There is no question about it - success at school begins at home. Parents are an important variable in a child's schooling. Parents model both a silent and spoken language in front of their children every day.

One of the most important components of a good school is the partnership between the school and parents who work together for the best interest of children. The close partnership between home and school is one of the exceptional strengths we aim to develop over this year at IELC Koramangala. Throughout the year parents will have the opportunity to develop that partnership in a wide variety of ways. Parents can volunteer in field trips, in reading to children and the guided reading programme, art and craft activities and events like Children's Day celebration. It is important to your child that you are involved in school in some way and is a way of letting him or her know that their school is valued.

Parent Orientation/ Curriculum Road Map Day 2015-2016
