September 2015 Newsletter

“All of us have moments in our childhood where we come alive for the first time. And we go back to those moments and think, ‘This is when I became myself.’”

Dear Parents,

Warm Greetings!!!

Last month was a very active & busy month for our little juniors. It had been a month of holistic development in the true sense as the children have been really active physically, emotionally, creatively, spiritually, musically and intellectually. Their little genius minds occupied and observant with lots of excitement and curiosity.

It all started with IELC, Chennai students & parents showing their love and affection towards their teachers by wishing & greeting them. Children made beautiful gifts for their teachers in the class like a ladybird card, wooden necklaces, bracelets, pencil stands and so on. All the children eagerly formed a line and went to meet all the school teachers in their classrooms and wished their teachers a Happy Teacher's Day and presented them with their gifts.

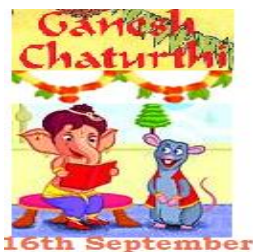

To celebrate and acknowledge the role of grandparents and the special bond shared with their grandchildren, Grandparents were invited as special guests. It was an enjoyable and memorable experience for children and their grandparents.

Our Grandparents were extremely excited to be part of the celebration at school. They were welcomed to class by a rose presented to them by their grandchildren. They enthusiastically participated in the singing of rhymes, reading stories and partaking in various activities with the children. The children enjoyed doing activities leading up to and then after the event, which exposed children to new ideas from a multigenerational, and life course perspective. The children presented 'Thank You' cards to their grandparents.

I would like to thank all our grandparents for making this day full of excitement for the children.

The first fire drill was practiced on 15th September. The children were calm and responded appropriately.

The children celebrated Ganesha's birthday on 16th September. They made sand and flower rangoli and did related craft activities in the class.

End of UOI celebration for Nursery & PP2 - 18th September:

PP2 students showcased their learning to the parents. Nursery parents also had a fun time with the UOI celebration. The parents performed a few rhymes for the children.

PP2 went on a field trip to Dakshina Chitra on 21st September. Dakshina Chitra is a museum dedicated to South Indian heritage and culture. Children were taken to see the heritage houses representing the living styles of people from the states of South India in connection to our first line of Inquiry Houses and Homes.

A collage of various school events. At the top center is a "BOOK WEEK" logo with children reading. To the left is a poster for "Parents as Readers" on the 24th and 25th of September, featuring a child reading under a rainbow. In the center is a "Favourite Cartoon" poster for a "COSTUME PARADE" on the 22nd of September, showing children in various costumes. To the right is a "story-telling" poster for the 21st and 22nd of September. At the bottom is a "SCHOLASTIC BOOK Fair" poster for the 24th and 25th of September, and an "ETL Book fair" poster for the 21st and 22nd of September, set against a landscape background with a banner that says "ETL Book fair". The ETL logo is in the bottom left corner.

Precious Moments!!

Our collection of little Fairies, Goblins, Mermaid, Wizards, Super Heroes and more...

Three cheers for our parents who took the time out of their extremely busy schedules to be a part of the school team and partners in the true sense!! Thank you parents.
