"The greatest gifts you can give your children are the roots of responsibility and the wings of independence." - Denis Waitley, motivational speaker

Today, we as parents and educators have realized that there is nothing called "ideal parenting" and that every child is unique and possess special qualities which we have to discover and help them excel at! Every month, the team at IELC works hard to discover the hidden potential in each child by observing their behavior during the classroom activities. These reflections help us understand the nature of each child which further helps us plan lessons keeping in mind different learning styles!

Red Day

A classroom full of toddlers walking around in red clothes reminded us of Christmas! Pre-Nursery celebrated "Red Day" this month. We not only had the little ones dressed up in their favorite red outfits, but the teachers and a few parents joined them too!

First Month Celebrations

It's a pity that you cannot hold onto time! We celebrated our first month in school with great enthusiasm. The little ones came dressed in their best party wear after which they participated in art and craft activities and music and dance sessions. Music and laughter filled the rooms of the school and echoed in the hallway even after the celebrations were over.

Celebrations: Eid – Ul- Fitr

Living in a secular county has its benefits as we get to experience the culture and customs associated with the different religious sects. Children are always open to learning; they observe everything so minutely that it is important to give them memories that will last them a lifetime. Eid was celebrated in school this month wherein the children got a glimpse of the customs associated with this festival. They also tasted “Sheer Khurma” a delicacy served during Eid.

Incursions and Excursions

Incursions and excursions help children get a better understanding of the world around them. These activities help them gain practical knowledge which further helps in reinforcing the concepts taught in class. Here are a few pictures from the incursions held this month!

Hope you had fun reading the newsletter and viewing pictures of your little ones. Will send you more updates next month. Stay Blessed!

Regards,
Rachna
